June 17th, 2022

Dear Parents,

It has been another busy week at school! Year 5 have spent the last few days in Walsingham and we can't wait to hear all about their adventures on Monday. The Bishop of London visited us on Wednesday and blessed the flood repairs. We loved having her in school!

The PTA Auction Update

A message from Mrs. Toptsis from the PTA:

We have had some fantastic Lots donated for the 2022 Grand Auction (many thanks for your generosity) but still need a good number more to make this the Fundraising Event of the Year.

To add some fun, we're offering an ice-cream treat prize to the class with the most Lots donated. Years 5 & 6 are currently heading the leader board with Year 1 hot on their tails...but there's still time to make your year group the Champion Lot Donators!

The launch of the online bidding will be held back until after the weekend to give you the chance to give your year group a boost.

All Lot information should be emailed ASAP to schoolauction@btinternet.com

And don't forget to bring in items for the Children's Auction - no email necessary, just drop items in the big red bin at the school gate at drop-off / pick-up.

Messages from Miss Hodgson

There will be no Tone Zone or Choir next week as Miss Hodgson will not be in school.

A safety message

Please make sure that children don't climb on the railings outside school.

Tube and rail strike on Tuesday

As you know, the strike on Tuesday will have a huge impact on transport in London. Most members of staff think that they will be able to get into school one way or another, but we may make some last minute changes once we see how the situation pans out.

Stars of the Week – June 17th

Nursery: Congratulations Joseph, you are the Nursery Star of the Week! We have been SO impressed with your independent writing and your fish printing. You have had a great week exploring lots of different activities and had so much fun playing in the water today! Well done for being such a fun member of Nursery, Joseph!

Reception: Congratulations Yuki! We are so impressed with how you always try every activity, putting forth your best effort. You seem excited about learning at school and are always a good listener. Well done!

Year One: Well done Aram! We are extremely pleased with how proactive and sensible you have been in the past two weeks. You have shown us that you are determined to be a role model on the carpet and during independent work. We are so impressed with your growing maturity.

Year Two: Congratulations Logan on being Year Two's Star of the Week! You have made tremendous improvements in all of your subjects since you first started Year 2. You are now writing some incredible and very interesting sentences. We are so proud of you, and you should be proud of yourself. Well done!

Year Three: Congratulations G! Well done for another fabulous week as always! You have worked so hard in English this week. I have been so impressed by your teamwork skills when working with others. Keep it up and remember, you are amazing!

Year Four: Well done Alberto! You try extremely hard in each and every lesson and you are very helpful around the classroom. Thank you and well done!

Year Six: Vasilis is our star of the week! We are always so proud of the work he has done, especially in RE and Science this week. He is consistently polite and helpful. Keep up the great work!

Teacher Angel

This week's Teacher Angel is Miss Weekes. The children chose her because she is always hard working and supportive of everyone in school. She also helps in the playground. She is really funny and has a very good sense of humour. She always willing to help everyone. Thank you Miss Weekes – we are lucky to have you!

Buster's Weekend Friend

Sayat (Year One) is taking Buster home this week. This is because she has made incredible progress this year and has become a more independent learner. She gives everything a go, even when her work is challenging. She is a great model for everyone in her class and shows them that they should all take risks in their learning! Well done Sayat.

Enjoy the sunshine and celebrating with the father figures in your lives on Sunday.

Have a wonderful weekend,

Miss Granite 😊
